MORE MUTINY OF THE GUARDS

Queen's Soldiers Overworked During the Kaiser's Visit.

Wanted a Day Off and Got a Parade Order Instead.

LONDON, July 22.—Truth to-day prints a starting story or another mutiny in the British Army, the facts of which seem to have been kept quiet up to the present. According to the story, this third serious mutiny among the Guards during the past year or so occurred in the Second Battallon of the Coldstream Guards, whose Colonel is Gen.

the Hon. Str A. F. Hardinge, K. C. B. The Second Battalion of this regiment has been quartered at Weilington Barracks, Birdcage Walk, close to Buckingham Palace, where it has been furnishing the guard of honor and incidentally, during the recent visit of the Emperor William of Germany to London, taking a prominent part in the parades, reviews and processions which were arranged in honor of the Imperial visitor.

This work necessitated a considerable amount of extra duty, and after the departure of the Emperor the guards expected to be allowed at least a day free from guard mount-

Instead of being granted the day off they were ordered to parade in full marching order. Then grumbling, cursing and fierce mutterings were heard throughout the company rooms of the barracks. The whole battalion turn out.

The Coldstreams' officers repaired to the mutinous privates, who finally sullenly consented to parade, but arriving upon the payade ground the behavior and bearing of the Coldstreams was so glaringly insubdinate that they were marched back to barrneks. The officers there issued orders confining their commands to barracks for three days as a punishment for their insubordinate conduct, and that ten senior privates should be them by court-martial. No sooner did the main body of the excited guardsmen hear of this last order than ninety of them parricaded themselves in a room in
